Choosing Your Memorial

When you lose someone special, the right memorial will create a comforting place for family and friends to visit, reflect and cherish the precious memories you shared. In this brochure, you’ll find plenty of thoughtful ideas and options to guide your choice, and your memorial advisor will support you every step of the way.

Here are some things to consider...

Regulations

Cemeteries, churchyards and crematoriums have specific guidelines for memorials. Your memorial advisor will clearly explain these regulations, making it easier for you to plan and design a suitable tribute.

Materials and Finishes

Memorials come in many materials for example granite, stone, marble and slate, with finishes such as polished, honed, rubbed and pitched to name a few. These materials and finishes weather differently and can also be affected by its location and environment.

Shapes and Sizes

This brochure contains many beautiful memorial shapes and sizes to inspire you. Adding simple details such as a personalized design or an alternative edge profile, can elevate your memorial’s overall design and make it even more special.

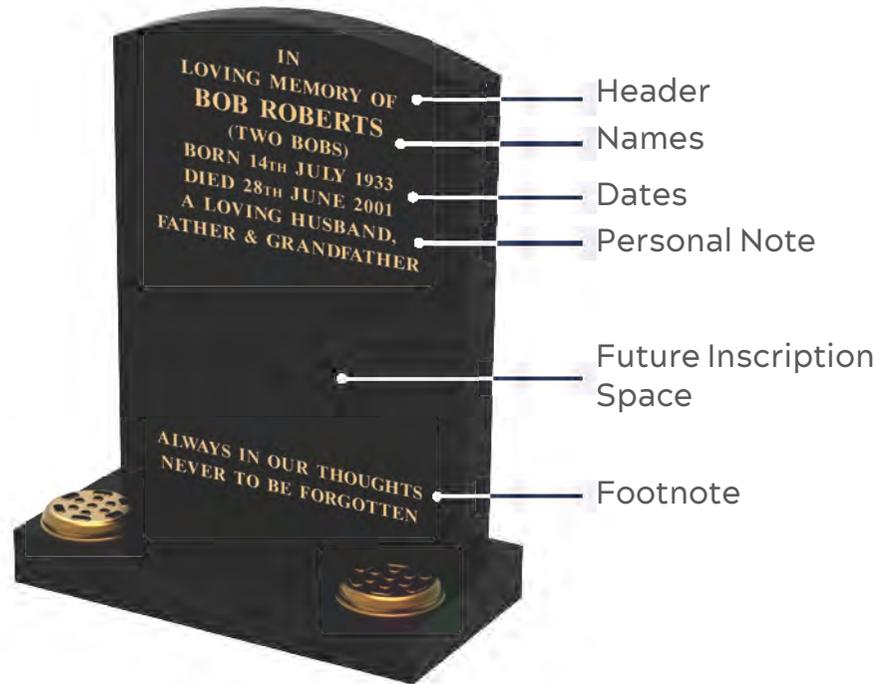

Personal Touches and Artwork

Thoughtful artwork will make a memorial unique. Adding a personalised design such as a favourite flower, animal or hobby, will capture the memory of your loved one.

Meaningful Words

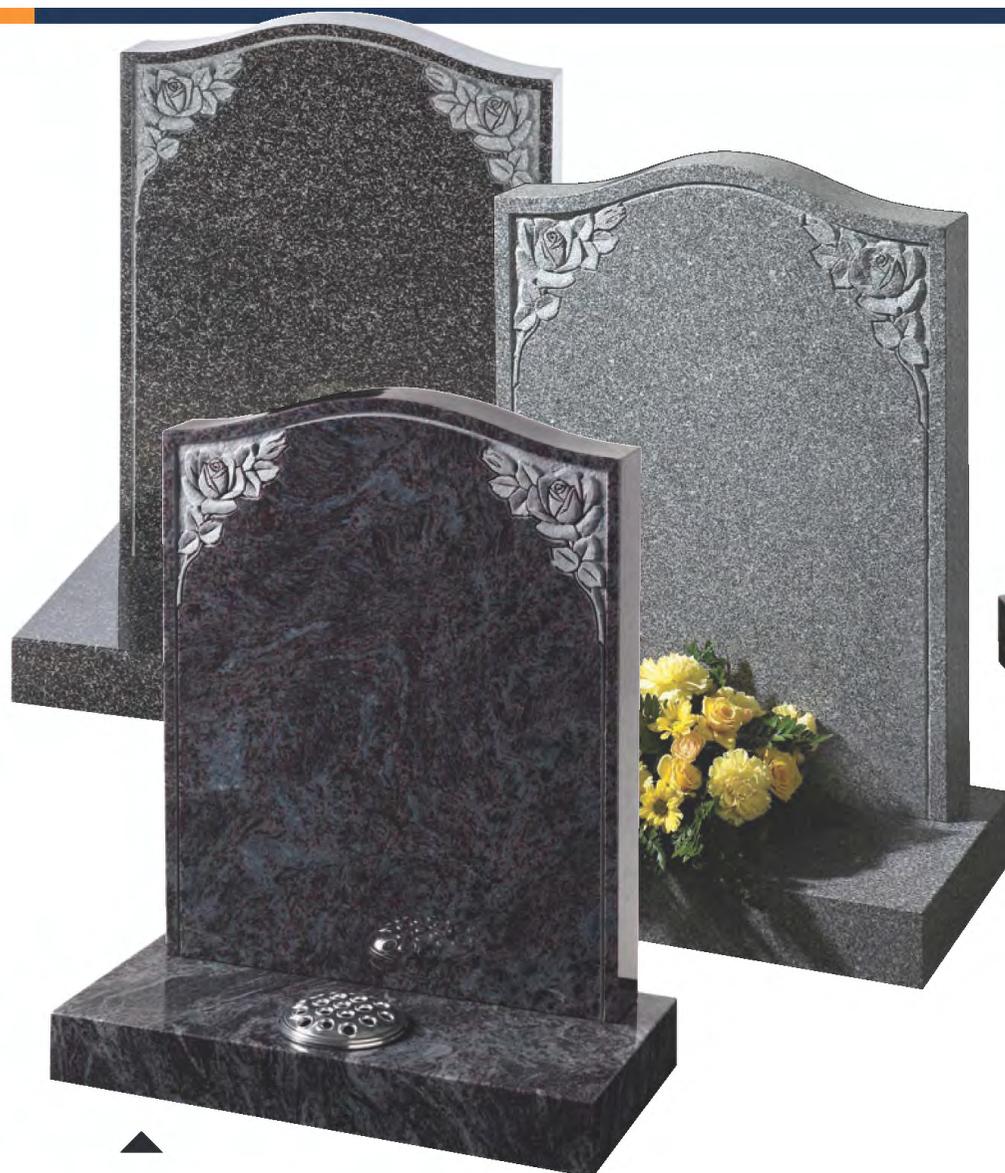

Selecting words that are both relevant and timeless is an important part of creating a memorial. There are many ways to write an inscription, and you can use the example layout provided below as a helpful starting point.

You might also consider something more distinctive, such as a unique font or colour. Whichever style you choose, the key is selecting words that will remain meaningful and comforting for generations.

In Loving Memory
Of

Our artists and craftsmen pride themselves on creating unique, highly detailed pieces of art for use in many different ways on our range of memorials. This helps ensure that any memorial chosen is personal enough to respectfully mark a person's life. On the next few pages are a selection of the many designs we have created over the years.
